MEDICAL

Organization	Guidance for people at higher risk for severe COVID-19 illness
Kaiser https://healthy.kaiserpermanente.org/northern-california/health-wellness/coronavirus-information	Public health agencies recommend that people at higher risk of severe illness should stay home and away from large groups of people as much as possible, including public places with lots of people and large gatherings where there will be close contact with others. This includes concert venues, conventions, sporting events, and crowded social gatherings. People at higher risk include those: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Over 60 years of age• With underlying health conditions including heart disease, lung disease, or diabetes• With weakened immune system• Who are pregnant There is no evidence that children are more susceptible to COVID-19. In fact, most confirmed cases have occurred in adults. Caregivers of children with underlying health conditions should consult their doctor about whether their children should stay home. Anyone who has questions about whether their condition puts them at risk for COVID-19 should call the advice number on their Kaiser Permanente membership card.

When should I call my doctor about COVID-19?

- If you have a fever OR respiratory symptoms AND
 - Have traveled internationally or been on a cruise ship with a known outbreak (or been in contact with someone who has) in the last 14 days
- OR
- If you have a fever OR respiratory symptoms AND
 - Have been in contact with a known or potential COVID-19 patient, including a health care worker or other person under quarantine

How do I know when I should seek care?

1. If you feel sick, stay home. It's the best way to avoid spreading illness.
2. If you have flu-like symptoms such as a fever, cough, or sore throat:
 - Mild symptoms, stay home: Please stay home, isolate from others in your house as much as possible, and follow prevention measures such as washing your hands and disinfecting surfaces.
 - Worsening symptoms, call first: If you begin to feel worse, please call your primary care doctor. After hours or on weekends, please call one of our Urgent Care Centers.
 - Severe symptoms, call 911: If you are in need of emergency care, please call 911. Please know that patients coming to the Emergency Room will only be tested for COVID-19 if they meet high-risk criteria. This will ensure that those who most need evaluation and testing can receive it in a timely manner.

MEDICAL RESPONSE SYSTEMS

Medical response systems allow you to call for help when you cannot access your telephone. The systems employ a help button on a necklace or bracelet which sends a signal to an outside monitoring center. When the button is pushed, the center attempts to contact you to determine the problem. If you do not respond, emergency services are contacted. Some systems work automatically when a fall is detected.

The following companies have provided these special prices to Rossmoor residents, which are current as of September 2015. Other companies also offer medical response systems. Neither the Rossmoor Fund nor the Rossmoor Counseling Service endorses any company's system.

For additional information contact the supplier or Rossmoor Counseling at 988-7750.
